

‘Chill out’ about jihadists? Nonsense

“Islamic State terrorists are back in Canada, and the Trudeau government doesn’t seem to have a clue how to handle the situation,” writes Candice Malcolm, further detailing Trudeau’s “half-hearted explanation about the various government programs related to terrorism, including a reintegration program for returned jihadists” during a statement given to the House of Commons. Malcolm warns that Canada needs to be realistic about the threat posed and adopt “a hard-nosed strategy to combat jihadists from the Islamic State and other terrorist groups.” Read the complete article at the Toronto Sun.
